

Niall McQuitty RIBA
Architecture Director

Niall has operated at a senior level since 1998 and at director level since founding Arctica in 2001. His experiences working for commercial clients on tight programmes have generated significant experience managing projects during the construction phase. This has led to the development of an organised and disciplined approach whilst still maintaining a strong design focus.

Having gained a wealth of experience with computer aided design packages early in his career, this has been expanded greatly since, and now encompasses all aspects of making sure that Arctica provides up-to-date IT facilities expected from a leading multi-disciplinary design consultancy.

Niall's project experience has covered waste to energy generation, food manufacturing, offices, ship building and repair, restaurants, defence and government organisations.

